ABOUT SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Syracuse University is a private research university that advances knowledge across a broad range of disciplines to drive breakthrough discoveries and breakout leadership. OFFICE OF VETERAN AND MILITARY AFFAIRS

The Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) serves as Syracuse University's "single point of entry" for all veteran and military related programs and initiatives. It collaborates and coordinates with the university community and stakeholders to best serve veterans, military-connected students, and military family members who are students or employees at Syracuse University. By offering a diverse range of programming, support, and resources specifically focused on our student veterans and their families, OVMA seeks to make the Syracuse University campus more veteran inclusive and relevant for every military-connected student.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Since Spanish-American War veteran William Herbert Johnson's graduation from the College of Law in 1903, Syracuse University made the goal of earning a college education attainable for veterans and their families. We have supported our students for over 150 years with superior academic programs and support. Today the university is home to tremendous veteran and military-connected programs and initiatives such as one of the longest continuously running Army ROTC programs in the nation, one of the first Air Force ROTC programs to be authorized in the U.S. Air Force, the Defense Comptrollership Program (DCP), the Military Visual Journalism Program (MVJ), the U.S. Army's Sergeants Major Academy Fellows Program, the National Security Studies Program (NSSP), and the Wohl Family Veteran Legal Clinic (VLC).

This year marks the 80th anniversary of the original GI Bill, a landmark legislation that enabled World War II veterans to access higher education and pursue the American Dream. As the Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) begins celebrating ten years of serving veteran and military-connected students, we renew our commitment to making Syracuse University the "Best Place for Veterans." Our dedication to recruiting, admitting, enrolling, matriculating, graduating, and finding post-graduation careers for veterans and military-connected students aligns with Chancellor Kent Syverud's vision. OVMA stands on firm ground as we look to the future. That bright future includes a current enrollment comprised of 6% of the enrolled student population being veteran and military-connected students, and we are continuing to grow. This milestone reflects the remarkable work of our admissions team, increasing veteran and military-connected student enrollment 300% since the office was established ten years ago. This year, our Army and Air Force ROTC programs commissioned 38 cadets to Second Lieutenants and the ROTC program continues to grow to new enrollment heights every year.

Veteran and military-connected students consistently report their top reasons for choosing Syracuse University are an opportunity to leverage their GI Bill and Yellow Ribbon Program, and the university's sterling reputation supporting veterans and military-connected students. We will continue to provide resources related to academic advising, career development, resiliency support, and community-building. Our OVMA Resiliency Program (ORP) is a newly created program designed to help veteran and military-connected students navigate their educational journey by providing coordinated care and resource support as they transition to university life.

The veteran and military-connected students you see detailed in these pages represent our enduring commitment to the value of Syracuse University. As a veteran and Syracuse University alumnus myself, I feel a profound sense of gratitude to serve alongside a team of professionals with servant hearts as we enable success in higher education and beyond. Please enjoy reading this year's end-of-year report, and join us as we begin celebrating the 10-Year Anniversary of the OVMA this upcoming academic year.

TILLMAN SCHOLARS

Zahra Johnson

*U.S. Army Sergeant and Army ROTC Cadet
Syracuse University College of Arts and Sciences
M.S. Forensic Science (Concentration in Medical Legal Death Investigation)*

Growing up in Afghanistan, Zahra Johnson witnessed first-hand the devastating impact of a flawed justice system on a nation and knew she had to make a difference.

Her dream is to contribute to a better and more just world. Zahra holds a BS in Forensic Science and is currently completing a master's degree in the same subject at Syracuse University. The unforeseen death of her uncle in the Afghan Army--and the devastating impact of a flawed and impaired investigation of his death left on her family--prompted her to focus her career on medicolegal death investigation to ensure timely, thorough, and accurate investigations of tragic events.

Zahra enlisted in the US Army as a Chemical, Biological, Radioactive and Nuclear specialist after graduating from college. Now in the Green to Gold program, she aims to become a Criminal Investigative Division (CID) agent and a death investigator after completing her graduate work, leading and training soldiers on effective investigations. Zahra is determined to dedicate her career to pursuing improvements in the death investigation system in the US Army to ensure that family, military units, and the nation receive clear, accurate, and timely information in the wake of tragedy.

Jude Akpunku

*U.S. Navy Lieutenant

Notably, Jude has championed diversity and inclusion through his consultation and lobbying for the H.R.8248 - Diversity in Military Leadership Act. Jude's outstanding military career in the United States Navy includes positions as a Personnel Officer, Action Officer, and Operations Intelligence Officer. He consistently demonstrated strong leadership and analytical skills, managing critical systems and facilitating diplomatic relations. His role as a personnel specialist was vital to the success of Operations Allies Refuge.

Recognized for excellence, and military service, Jude has been honored with the Navy Commendation Medal and the Navy Achievement Medal twice, and the Outstanding Thesis Award from the Naval Postgraduate School.

Jude's aspirations are rooted in creating a more inclusive and equitable world. With his legal education, he intends to continue serving and advocating for positive change in his communities, reflecting the values and spirit of the Pat Tillman Scholarship.

Student veterans can build meaningful, lifelong connections through programs on campus like Peer Advisors for Veteran Education (PAVE). PAVE is an initiative focused on linking newly matriculated student veterans with established members of the military-connected community on campus. The result is a close-knit, resilient community with members that can lean on one another to ease with the transition into higher education.

MILITARY VISUAL JOURNALISM

Founded by Fred Demarest in 1963, Syracuse University's Newhouse School has been the home to the Military Visual Journalism Program. Active-duty servicemembers who are Mass Communication and Public Affairs specialists study at Newhouse for ten months under a contract with the Department of the Navy (DON).

While at Newhouse, students hone their skills and become higher-level storytellers for their respective military branches, taking classes in photography, broadcast and digital journalism, sound, documentary, multimedia, social media, design, and communications.

The students who study at Newhouse are non-commissioned officers. This year, eight Sailors and eight Marines earned a certificate of completion, along with 30 undergraduate credit hours and the ability to matriculate to Syracuse University to earn a bachelor's degree from the Newhouse School of Public Communications.

Above: During the annual Pixels and Prints Workshop, Visual Communication students create a campaign for a nonprofit. This year, the Baldwin Fund was chosen as a client. Several MVJ students were on the winning team. They filmed the “Crush the Can” social media campaign with Alec Baldwin to raise funds to build a National Cancer Institute in Syracuse.

BETTY AND MICHAEL D. WOHL VETERANS LEGAL CLINIC

KEEPING OUR PROMISE, HONORING THEIR SERVICE

Founded in 2015, the Betty and Michael D. Wohl Veterans Legal Clinic at the College of Law is now in its ninth year of providing quality legal advice to veterans in Syracuse and across New York State. The Veterans Legal Clinic (VLC) provides legal representation to veterans and their families seeking benefits from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) or upgrading a military discharge through the various military branches. The VLC is staffed by student attorneys in their 2L or 3L year at the College of Law, many who are veterans themselves, or who have a connection to the military, and a passion for serving veterans.

During the summer semester, students with VLC worked together to write an amicus brief to the U.S. Supreme Court in the case of Van Dermark v. McDonough. The case presented important questions about the obligation of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs to reimburse veterans for their out-of-pocket costs for emergency medical treatment received outside the United States. The students not only raised issues unique to Mr. Van Dermark but also highlighted the need for clearer policies by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs covering veterans seeking medical treatment overseas.

In the fall, the VLC was awarded a $150,000 Legal Services for Homeless Veterans grant from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. The program is a new grant opportunity to fund legal services providers. The VLC began partnering with the Syracuse VA Medical Center's Health Care for Homeless Veterans program to identify critical needs of veterans struggling with homelessness to connect them with medical care and disability compensation.

Throughout the year, the VLC hosted a Social Work intern from the David B. Falk College of Sport and Human Dynamics. The new Legal-Social Work Partnership supports social work students interested in working at the intersection of law and social work and promotes a stronger legal system that can address the holistic needs of veterans. Syracuse University Tillman Scholar and U.S. Army Veteran Benetta Dousuah was selected as the first intern for this program.

MILITARY AND VETERANS LAW SOCIETY

The Military and Veterans Law Society (MVLS) is a student-run College of Law organization that provides law students an opportunity to engage with and assist veterans and military members in the community.

Over the past year, led by President 3L Meghan Wright, MVLS leadership participated in the fall student veteran welcome, the Veterans Day Fun Run, co-hosted the College of Law's sixth annual Veterans Day Celebration, and teamed up with Volunteer Lawyers Project of CNY for Valor Day at the New York State Fairgrounds. Before the Thanksgiving holiday, the MVLS distributed 125 free turkeys to area veterans in partnership with Tully Rinckey law firm.

In the fall, the MVLS had the honor of hosting the U.S. Army Court of Criminal Appeals in the Melanie Gray Ceremonial Courtroom in Dineen Hall. The court heard oral argument on a real-world Army appellate case of an Army Soldier convicted of wrongfully broadcasting intimate visual images and making a false official statement. Following the hearing, the three-judge panel, along with the appellate government and defense counsel answered questions from the audience. The MVLS hosted a reception with the court personnel as well as representatives from Fort Drum's 10th Mountain Division Office of the Staff Judge Advocate.

Anderson had a great discussion with OVMA leadership and Lt. Col. Matt Coyne, commander of the Syracuse University Army ROTC program about veteran and military-connected initiatives at Syracuse University.

COACH JIM BOEHEIM

Hall of Fame Coach Jim Boeheim visited the National Veterans Resource Center at The Daniel and Gayle D'Aniello Building and met with Syracuse University Army ROTC cadets and student veterans. Coach Boeheim's visit emphasizes his continuing support to our veteran and military-connected students and his commitment to our community. Go Orange!

VETERANS DAY—HONORING ALL WHO SERVED

Every year the nation pauses on November 11th to honor those who have served in the military on Veterans Day. With Syracuse University being renowned as the Best Place for Veterans, it is no surprise the University goes the extra mile to recognize the day annually. The day started with a Veterans Day 5K run. Later that day, Chancellor Kent Syverud was on hand to speak about the University's continued commitment to the military community and introduced the keynote speaker, Laurie "Mocha" Coffey L'25, a naval aviator who amassed more than 2,400 flight hours and 300 carrier landings during her 20 years of service. The Veterans Day program concluded with a spectacular brunch in the Bisignano Grand Hall.

VETERANS DAY PROFILES

Jack Pullano '24

Why serve?

"Because of my parents, Jim and Kelly. My dad joined the Air Force when he was young like me, doing one enlistment and then pursuing his education. My parents were always involved in my community growing up, especially with the sports I played. Seeing that community involvement probably instilled in me the service aspect that drives me today."

Why Syracuse?

"When I was looking at colleges, I wanted to pursue something I was interested in, and exercise science stood out to me. Syracuse has a strong program."

Bennetta Dousuah G'25

Why serve?

"When I was younger, my mother used to remind me that I wanted to be a police officer. I don't know why; all I know is from an early age I wanted to serve. The military allows you to go to college for free after your service is over, and that really appealed to me. I've always known I wanted to earn a college degree and be part of something bigger than myself."

Why Syracuse?

"I wanted to be somewhere where I could not only feel at home, but still feel like I'm connected to the military family. I chose Syracuse because of its reputation as a military-friendly school, but also because of the pride people take in going to Syracuse. It's like being in the Army."

Raphael Grollmus '24

Why serve?

"My mother, brother and sister were all in the Army. My grandfather on my mom's side, Hank, fought in World War II, while my grandfather on my dad's side, Paul, fought in the Korean War, so I grew up knowing the importance of service. After I graduated from high school, I enlisted in the Marines' delayed entry program and ended up serving nine years."

Why Syracuse?

"When transitioning out of the Marines, I wanted to study something I enjoyed. What we did in the Middle East was probably the most influential work from my military career and I was proud of what I was able to contribute. I wanted to keep doing forensic science and Syracuse has a great forensic science program. All the classes I've taken have been fantastic."

Syracuse University has over 250 veteran and military-connected employees. Within this group are faculty and staff who have served in every conflict since

Chancellor's Review & Awards Ceremony

Over the course of the ceremony, more than 70 scholarships were presented to cadets, with awards ranging from leadership, marksmanship, fitness, technical proficiency, and academic excellence. Army ROTC

Army ROTC at Syracuse University has been creating leaders who go on to rewarding careers in the military and civilian world since 1918. This college leadership program provides students with the discipline, drive, and motivation to earn a commission as second lieutenants in the United States Army. The program also provides funding to make attending Syracuse University affordable. Some of the educational, training, and student experiences this year saw cadets attend Airborne and Air Assault School, the senior staff ride and field training exercises.

JOINT DEVELOPMENT LEADERSHIP EXERCISE (JDLX)

U.S. Army ROTC cadets from the Syracuse University Stalwart Battalion participated in a Joint Development Leadership Exercise with cadets from Clarkson and Cornell Universities. The annual exercise took place in April at Fort Drum, NY.

AIRBORNE SCHOOL

Cadet Lopane attended the United States Army Airborne School at Ft. Moore, Georgia. Lopane learned the basic skills of military parachuting and earned his airborne wings after successfully completing five static line jumps from a military aircraft.

STAFF RIDE

Senior Cadets from Stalwart Battalion conducted a Staff Ride at Gettysburg battlefield. At Gettysburg, there was a guided tour of the events as they unfolded, and a Cadet-led analysis of the decision-making processes of key leaders over the course of the battle.

MASK CONFIDENCE TRAINING

Septemeber 2023 - Cadets Fraser, Hajjar, and Wicks attended Air Assault School. Known as the "Army's Ten Hardest Days", Air Assault School is a ten-day training program where participants learn the basics of helicopter operations, sling loading, and rappelling.

Air Force ROTC

Syracuse University Air Force ROTC (AFROTC) offers students the opportunity to become leaders and earn a commission as second lieutenants in the United States Air Force. While in Detachment 535, cadets must maintain high standards across academics, military training, and personal fitness, but also their discipline, image, and uniform they represent. Some of the educational, training, and student experiences this year included: air defense training in Rome, New York and Hancock Air National Guard Base, Syracuse, New York; running the Syracuse Half Marathon; Field Training Exercise (FTX) at Fort Drum, New York; Land Navigation, and competing in the annual Battle of New York. With its first commissioned cadet this year into the US Space Force, Syracuse AFROTC continues to be the Flyin' Orange, making strong leaders for America's defense.

CADET BENJAMIN JOHNSON

On Friday May 10th, Benjamin Johnson, a computer engineering major in the College of Engineering and Computer Science (ECS) and a 2023-24 Remembrance Scholar, became Syracuse AFROTC Detachment 535's first commissioned officer into the United States Space Force. In accounting what he liked most about Syracuse University, Lt. Johnson said, "Syracuse has uniquely prepared me for the Space Force, which develops "leaders of character." Such leaders aren't in it for themselves. They embrace the branch's core values of character, connection, courage and commitment. Leaders of character are who our nation turns to during times of uncertainty. That's the kind of person I want to become."

WHERE ARE THEY NOW

Brandon S. Boutwell ('19)

"The Syracuse University Army ROTC program helped me develop time management skills and working relationships that have extended far beyond campus. In the New York Army National Guard; I am a Signal Corps officer and as a civilian I am a Product Analyst in tactical communications for L3 Harris Technologies. I am proud to be a Stalwart alum."

Nick Brincka ('20)

"During my time at Syracuse University, I was able to hone and develop my skills as a leader. As a prior service cadet, I had the foundational Army knowledge of how to be a soldier and succeed at my level, SU and the Army ROTC program took that foundational base and elevated my skillset to become the leader I am today. Through all four years at SU, I was given multiple reps and practical training exercises that have compounded my abilities and allowed me to succeed leading soldiers at the Company and Battalion Level."

Alex Consolati ('20)

"I graduated in 2020 from the Engineering and Computer Sciences College with a BS in Mechanical Engineering. I am a First Lieutenant currently serving as a Field Artillery Firing Battery Executive Officer at Fort Bliss, Texas. I believe that balancing the challenging coursework at Syracuse University with the demands of ROTC taught me incredibly important time management skills and work ethic. Go Orange!"

Jacob Donafry ('22)

"Air Force ROTC Detachment 535 was instrumental in instilling the discipline, empathy, and strategic mindset needed to lead and operate in today's world. Above all else, leaders at Det 535 shaped me into a resilient officer dedicated to taking care of Airmen, supporting their families, and being the competent warfighter that citizens of the United States deserve. "Battalion Level."

William Northrop ('19)

"The Stalwart Battalion taught me a multitude of invaluable lessons that I have carried forward with me during my career so far.

Time management, understanding what it means to be a leader, and the importance of networking are just a few of those lessons that come to mind."

Amanda Troelstra ('22)

"Syracuse University and the Army ROTC program has contributed to my current success in the military and life because it allowed me to see my potential and how to apply it to real life situations. Being an Active-Duty Platoon Leader has posed its challenges, but my experience and opportunities from ROTC have allowed me to stay flexible and adapt to the ever-changing mission."

STUDENT VETERANS ORGANIZATION (SVO)

The Syracuse University Student Veterans Organization (SVO) creates opportunities for veteran and military-connected students to get involved on campus and provide a sense of belonging while building camaraderie. This year the SVO sponsored several events designed to assist veteran and military-connected students to seamlessly become a part of Orange Nation. Some of these events include but are not limited to the annual Chancellor’s Dinner, 2nd Annual Murph Challenge in honor of Lieutenant Michael P. Murphy, the retreat to Minnowbrook and the SVO Formal.

CHANCELLOR’S DINNER

Chancellor Kent Syverud and Dr. Ruth Chen hosted the Syracuse University Office of Veteran and Military Affairs for dinner in the spring semester. This was an opportunity for them to share their appreciation and unwavering commitment to supporting our Syracuse University student veterans and military-connected students. Thank you Chancellor Syverud and Dr. Chen!

PAYING TRIBUTE TO OUR NATION’S HEROES

The Syracuse University Student Veterans Organization joined forces in this year’s Wreaths Across America ceremony, collaborating with community groups to honor veterans at Oakwood Cemetery. Events like these enable us to serve our community and remember the brave individuals who gave their lives for our nation’s freedom.

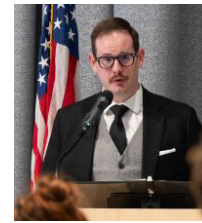

SVO BALL & AWARDS BANQUET

Syracuse University's military-connected community came together for an evening of celebration during the annual Student Veterans Organization (SVO) Ball & Awards Banquet on Saturday, April 6th, 2024. The year's formal event featured a Gatsby-theme, a formal dinner, guest speaker, awards, as well as a raffle drawing to help raise money for next year's SVO functions. It also welcomed the largest crowd in attendance since the SVO Ball first found a home at the National Veterans Resource Center.

Theodore "Ted" Walker, a U.S. Army veteran and guest speaker of this year's event, is an assistant professor with the Department of Biomedical and Chemical Engineering in the College of Engineering and Computer Science. Walker shared some of his own experience in the military as a U.S. Army ranger with multiple deployments in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom. Walker also spoke about the importance of having an engaged community for veterans, highlighting the unique camaraderie that exists among those who have served and the underlying purpose of the SVO's existence.

This year, the Danny Facto Student Veteran Work Study Award was presented to Andrew Patterson, a 3L law student in the College of Law. The OVMA Student Veteran of the Year Award was also presented at the banquet, awarded to a student veteran who makes the most standout commitment to the military-connected community at Syracuse University. This year, the award was presented to Raul Rosique '24.

The formal portion of the event concluded with the new SVO board being announced. Elected to the board were: Raphael Grollmus-President, Marriler Wilson-Vice President, Jurgen Baeza-Secretary, Savion Pollard-Treasurer, Tojyea "TJ" Matally-Public Affairs Officer, and Leonel Aviles-Community Outreach Officer.

STUDENT VETERAN OF THE YEAR

RAUL "RUDY" ROSIQUE

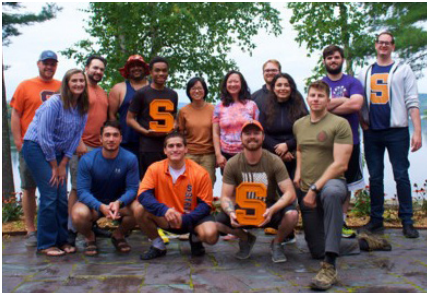

Each year, the Office of Veteran and Military Affairs recognizes a single student veteran for their significant contributions to the veteran community both on and off campus. This year's SVO Executive Board was no exception as it was awarded to Raul "Rudy" Rosique.

Raul "Rudy" Rosique has embedded himself in the student veteran population to make a lasting impact on generations of student veterans. Rudy has been the SVO Secretary for the past two years and he ensure that all the student veterans and military-connected students that he comes across on campus truly have the best college experience. Rudy is approached frequently by students about problems that they are having which speaks volumes about his impact on this campus, along with the trust and rapport that he has built with his peers. Going the extra mile is what sets Rudy apart from his peers and it is also why he will continue to have a lasting impact on the student veteran population, as well as the SU community even after his academic career at Syracuse has come to an end.

MINNOWBROOK

During the Fall 2023 and Spring 2024 semesters, over 15 of our student veteran organization members and spouses stayed at the gorgeous Minnowbrook Conference Center located on the shore of Indian Lake. This beautiful retreat allowed our student veterans to unwind from a tough semester and rejoice with one another. The SVO members built camaraderie over delightful meals cooked by an amazing chef. They also built memories in the game room over rounds of ping-pong, foosball, and shuffleboard. In the evening, they all gathered underneath the porch by the lake and shared stories of their time at Syracuse University. They spoke about what they did right and what they could have done better. These stories told by the upperclassmen gave the newer student veterans an idea of how to get involved faster in the Orange community and why it may be vital for their overall success. Many of our members gathered around to see who could catch the biggest fish. Even though no one caught a fish, the moment was not lost on anyone, and the pictures will be cherished for many years to come. The student veteran annual trip, funded entirely by the OVMA, has quickly become the highlight of the year. This trip to the Adirondack Mountains is one of the many reasons why Syracuse University is the Best Place for Veterans.

SVO MONTHLY LUNCHEONS

In February 2024, Patty Giles, OVMA's librarian provided a full tour of Bird Library and luncheon to student veterans and the SVO. Here students were given an in-depth overview of the library's tutoring services, Digital Scholarship Space, Government Documents, and other archive collections. To end the tour, the OVMA had the privilege of touring Bird Library's Pan Am Flight 103 exhibit collection.

MURPH CHALLENGE

On April 28th, US Army cadets from the Stalwart Battalion collaborated with the SVO to complete the 2nd annual Murph Challenge in honor of Lieutenant Michael P. Murphy and all those who have lost their lives in the service. The challenge consisted of a one-mile run, 100 pull-ups, 200 push-ups, and 300 squats followed by another one-mile run.

NEW YORK EMPLOYER SUPPORT OF THE GUARD AND RESERVE (ESGR)

On April 10th, leaders from the New York Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) met with Dr. Mike Haynie, Vice Chancellor of Strategic Initiatives and Innovation at Syracuse University, for a tour of the National Veteran Resource Center and to sign a statement of support for reserve and guard service members. This significant gesture reinforces our commitment to honoring and supporting those who serve our nation.

VETERANS AFFINITY GROUP

Established in 2014, the Syracuse University Veterans Affinity Group (SUVA) is open to all veteran and military-connected employees. Throughout the year the SUVA welcomes Syracuse University employees who have served are dependents or supporters of the military-connected community. This past December the SUVA supported National Wreaths Across America Day at Oakwood Cemetery. In doing so the SUVA joined more than two million volunteers and supporters who will gather to remember, honor, and teach at more than 4,225 participating locations in all 50 states, at sea and abroad.

Our University's commitment to veterans transcends gratitude; it honors the selfless sacrifice made by all veterans and family members. Thank you to Chancellor Syverud for making SU the best place for veterans.

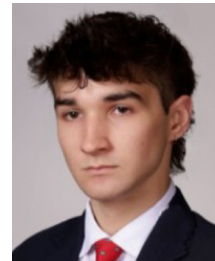

DANIEL AND GAYLE D'ANIELLO ENDOWED FLORENCE SCHOLARSHIP

Spending a semester abroad can be a formative experience for college students, both traditional and non-traditional students alike, but military-connected students are often unable to enjoy the experience due to limitations with the G.I. Bill. However, thanks to a new scholarship exclusive to Syracuse University, three military-connected students will spend spring semester studying in Florence, Italy, with funding from one of the prominent supporters of the University's initiative to being the "Best Place for Veterans."

The Daniel and Gayle D'Aniello Endowed Florence Scholarship is named after U.S. Navy veteran Daniel D'Aniello '68, H'20 and his wife, Gayle. D'Aniello studied abroad in Florence, Italy, when he was a student at Syracuse, and seized the opportunity to ensure other military-connected students at his alma mater could also benefit from studying overseas. BEN SCHWARTZWALDER AWARD

Celebrating Ring of Honor Inductee, Coach Ben Schwartzwalder and The Captain Floyd “Ben” Schwartzwalder Award for Leadership and Service

On September 23, 2023 at halftime at the JMA Wireless Dome between Syracuse football and fellow New York state team Army, legendary Hall of Fame head coach and World War II hero Ben Schwartzwalder was officially inducted into the SU Athletics ring of honor.

Schwartzwalder was the head coach of Syracuse football for 25 years and won the National Championship in 1959. He was also a decorated WWII hero. A paratrooper, he parachuted onto Normandy Beach on D-Day and was among the first group of soldiers that jumped in 1944. Per cuse.com, he rose to the rank of major and ultimately retired as a lieutenant colonel. Schwartzwalder “was awarded a Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, four battle stars and a Presidential Unit Citation for his distinguished service.”

In honor and memory of Coach Schwartzwalder, Syracuse University established The Captain Floyd “Ben” Schwartzwalder Award for Leadership and Service. The award will be presented annually to a student veteran or military family member enrolled at Syracuse University who through their actions and accomplishments embodies Ben Schwartzwalder’s exemplary leadership and service to his country and others. The funding was provided by a generous gift from Mr. Theodore A. Lachowicz '72 and Mr. Clifford J. Ensley '69, '70, G'71.

The 2023 recipient was U.S. Marine Corps veteran Brian McDonald, '24, a student veteran at Falk College of Sport & Human Dynamics.

JAMES LYONS '03 SONS & DAUGHTERS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP ENDOWMENT

The OVMA hosted Mr. Bob Lyons and the Syracuse Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, Inc. The Delta Kappa Epsilon brothers raised funds in support of the James Lyons '03 Sons & Daughters Memorial Scholarship Fund. 1st Lt. James Lyons was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and graduated with an undergraduate degree in biochemistry in 2003. Lyons was killed in action during Operation Iraqi Freedom in 2006 and is believed to be the first Syracuse University graduate killed in the conflict. His friends and family established the scholarship to provide aid for the children of fallen or disabled veterans. It was wonderful to see everyone come together for such a meaningful fundraising cause.

COACH K AWARD

The Captain Michael William Krzyzewski Award for Leadership and Civic Engagement

In 2022, in honor of Mike “Coach K” Krzyzewski’s retirement, Syracuse University established The Captain Michael William Krzyzewski Award for Leadership and Civic Engagement recognizing his commitment to service and his military service. Mike “Coach K” Krzyzewski’s is a Naismith Hall of Fame coach, a five-time national champion as Head Coach at Duke University, and a six-time gold medalist as head Coach of the U.S. Men’s National Team. But what you may not know is he is also a veteran. Krzyzewski separated from the military in 1974 as a captain, following his graduation from West Point in 1969.

The Captain Michael William Krzyzewski Award for Leadership and Civic Engagement will now be presented annually to a Syracuse University student veteran, serving military member or a military family member enrolled here, who through their actions and aspirations embodies Krzyzewski’s public and demonstrated commitment to the virtues of honor, empathy and servant-leadership. The Krzyzewski Award honoree will be not only be an exceptional student but also a leader on the campus and in the community.

The Captain Michael William Krzyzewski Award for Leadership and Civic Engagement is made possible through an annual gift from Jim Lee '75 and his wife, Lou Ann Lee.

The 2024 recipient of the award is Micah G. Collins '25. In Micah’s 11 years of service he would serve in the XVIII Airborne Corps G2 and the Ranger Military Intelligence Battalion (RMIB), 75th Ranger Regiment. During his time in the 75th Ranger Regiment, Micah deployed a total of six times, received several awards and recognitions, and took part in instrumental training that would shape his leadership philosophy. In the spring of 2023, the Army selected Micah (a Sergeant First Class in the Army) for the Green to Gold Active-Duty Option which he chose and was accepted to Syracuse University, because of their strong military connections and faculty. He is currently pursuing a dual graduate degree in Public Administration and International Relations.

HALL OF HONOR INDUCTEE

DR. JOSÉ DIMAS TORRES-LABAWLD G'59

Inducted into the Daniel and Gayle D'Aniello National Veteran Resource Center, Hall of Honor on September 23, 2023.

Born in Puerto Rico, Torres-Labawld was drafted in the U.S. Army in 1951 and was assigned to the 65th Infantry Regiment, known as the "Borinqueneers." He deployed to Korea, where the Regiment participated in some of the fiercest battles of the war to recover and retain South Korean territory lost to the enemy. Discharged from the military in 1953, he returned to Puerto Rico serving eight years in the U.S. Army Reserves. In 1957, he was selected to attend Syracuse University and graduated with a master's degree in public administration from the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. He returned to Puerto Rico and worked for the Office of the Governor. He had a significant impact on increasing the economic development of the entire island prior to starting a distinguished 35-year career in academia after earning his Ph.D. in 1973. In 2016, Dr. Torres-Labawld was awarded The Congressional Gold Medal by President Barack Obama for his service as part of the 65th Regiment.

THE BORINQUENEERS

In August 1950, Puerto Rico's 65th Infantry Regiment landed at the port city of Pusan on the Korean Peninsula's southern tip, where United States forces had been holding a defensive perimeter against the Communist North Korean invaders. The 65th was sent into action immediately around the vital port of Hungnam in support of the United States Eighth Army and the 1st Marine Division, with attached British Army units. They had become overrun and were completely encircled. In one of the greatest fighting retreats in history, the outnumbered marines battled their way south to the coast. The first friendly troops they saw on the frozen ridgetops were the Puerto Ricans of the 65th Infantry Regiment. The Puerto Ricans supervised the evacuation of Hungnam, finally withdrawing themselves on Christmas Eve, 1950.

VISIONS FEDERAL CREDIT UNION PARTNERSHIP ANNOUNCED DURING MILITARY-CONNECTED ORIENTATION EVENT

The Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) hosts a new student orientation and resource fair exclusively for military-connected students each semester. This year the OVMA welcomed representatives from Visions Federal Credit Union. During the orientation, Visions Federal Credit Union’s Director of Branding and Public Relations, Timothy Strong, announced a new partnership with the OVMA to deliver more robust programs and services for military-connected students. “We are proud to partner with Syracuse University’s Office of Veteran and Military Affairs to support student veterans,” said Strong. “This impactful program is a natural fit for our mission of helping people achieve their financial goals. We appreciate the commitment and sacrifice of our veteran and military-connected communities and are committed to providing both with the resources they need to succeed.” The program, funded by Visions Credit Union, will help support access to tutoring, upskilling and financial readiness resources in addition to enhancing existing career services and other programs offered by the OVMA.

Visions Federal Credit Union Opens Financial Readiness Kiosk in NVRC

On January 12, 2024, Visions Federal Credit Union formally opened its financial-readiness kiosk area at Syracuse University’s National Veterans Resource Center (NVRC). The financial-readiness kiosk offers modules, online resources, and an event calendar to help navigate financial challenges and achieve long-term economic stability in a convenient and interactive way. The financial-readiness kiosk is part of the Visions Student Veteran Success Program, which provides academic resources and professional-advancement services to the military-connected community at Syracuse University, benefiting enrolled student veterans and their families.

OVMA Hosts First Veteran Career-Ready Bootcamp, Powered by Visions Federal Credit Union

The Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) hosted its inaugural Veteran Career-Ready Bootcamp at the National Veterans Resource Center. This career-preparation event brought together student veterans for a daylong series of classes, panel discussions and practical application exercises with one focus: how to successfully launch a career after graduation. The success of the event was partially attributed to the support of OVMA’s recent corporate sponsor, Visions Federal Credit Union. “Visions was thrilled to support the Veteran Career-Ready Bootcamp. Programs like this are exactly why we saw a partnership with the OVMA as a perfect fit,” says Timothy Strong, director of branding and public relations for Visions Federal Credit Union. “The continued emphasis on providing the military-connected community with skills to benefit them in and out of the classroom fits perfectly with our mission.”

WALL OF HONOR: CIVILIAN CHAMPIONS

Syracuse University has made significant accomplishments in providing access to higher education for veterans and military family members since the days of World War I. While the overall impact of those efforts is immeasurable, they did pave the way for the establishment of the D’Aniello Institute for Veterans and Military Families and Office of Veterans and Military Affairs. In honor of their contributions, Dr. Mike Haynie, vice chancellor and founder and executive director of the D’Aniello Institute for Veterans and Military Families (IVMF), established the Civilian Champions Wall of Honor in recognition of the accomplishments by those civilian supporters who have tremendously impacted the University’s goal of being the best place for veterans.

CIVILIAN WALL HONORARIES

After the initial installation of the first four honorees earlier in 2023, three additional civilians were recently inducted for their profound impact upon the lives of the military-connected community across the nation.

SELENE MARTIN

Associate Vice President, Corporate Affairs, CareSource Military & Veterans was inducted to the Wall of Honor for her long-standing commitment to veterans and military families, particularly regarding mental health and economic mobility.

MAUREEN CASEY

Chief Operating Officer, D’Aniello Institute for Veterans and Military Families (IVMF) was inducted for her successful leadership of the IVMF which serves over 20,000 veterans and military families a year.

PHEBE NOVAKOVIC '53

Addition to the Wall of Honor comes after a lifetime of dedication to veterans and education. Her earliest days of support came from writing letters to her cousin during World War II. Her cousin, who served in the U.S. Army in the European theater, stated that her commitment to writing him regular letters was a constant source of hope and inspiration for him, and his unit, while overseas.

CALLING ALL ALUMNI—JOIN THE WALL OF SERVICE

The “Wall of Service” inside of the National Veteran Resource Center showcases the individual stories of Syracuse University’s current military-connected students, veteran alumni, and employees using self-submitted content. MAKING AN IMPACT “Syracuse has enabled me to combine my passions for space exploration and computer engineering into a dream job. Whether I become a “lifer” in the military or eventually join a civilian company, I’m going to be happy. Syracuse has uniquely prepared me for Space Force, which develops “leaders of character.”

MAKING AN IMPACT

“For the student veterans at Syracuse, there are so many tools and resources available to us. Many veterans I talk with didn’t know all of the resources they had when they went back to school, but that’s where Syracuse has excelled. They take care of their veterans.”
